Mountain View High School
Mountain View, California

Diane,
Te segunda Sra. Vidal.
It's been a great pleasure knowing you. Take care and stay beautiful
Mike K.

One from the North and one from the South, and thus came the colors Blue and Gray.

From the beginning we were united — united in one body, working for the good of all, working for the good of Mountain View High School.

And as our school grew from that class of two boys, so grew the people in it. These boys gave us a heritage to be proud of and a foundation to grow from. They left their differences behind and joined together to start anew—to build a "home" for themselves and the others who would come after them.

And we are a few of those others. We have come to Mountain View High School from many backgrounds, but with common goals—to build onto the experiences we have already had, to learn, to achieve, and to live together in harmony.

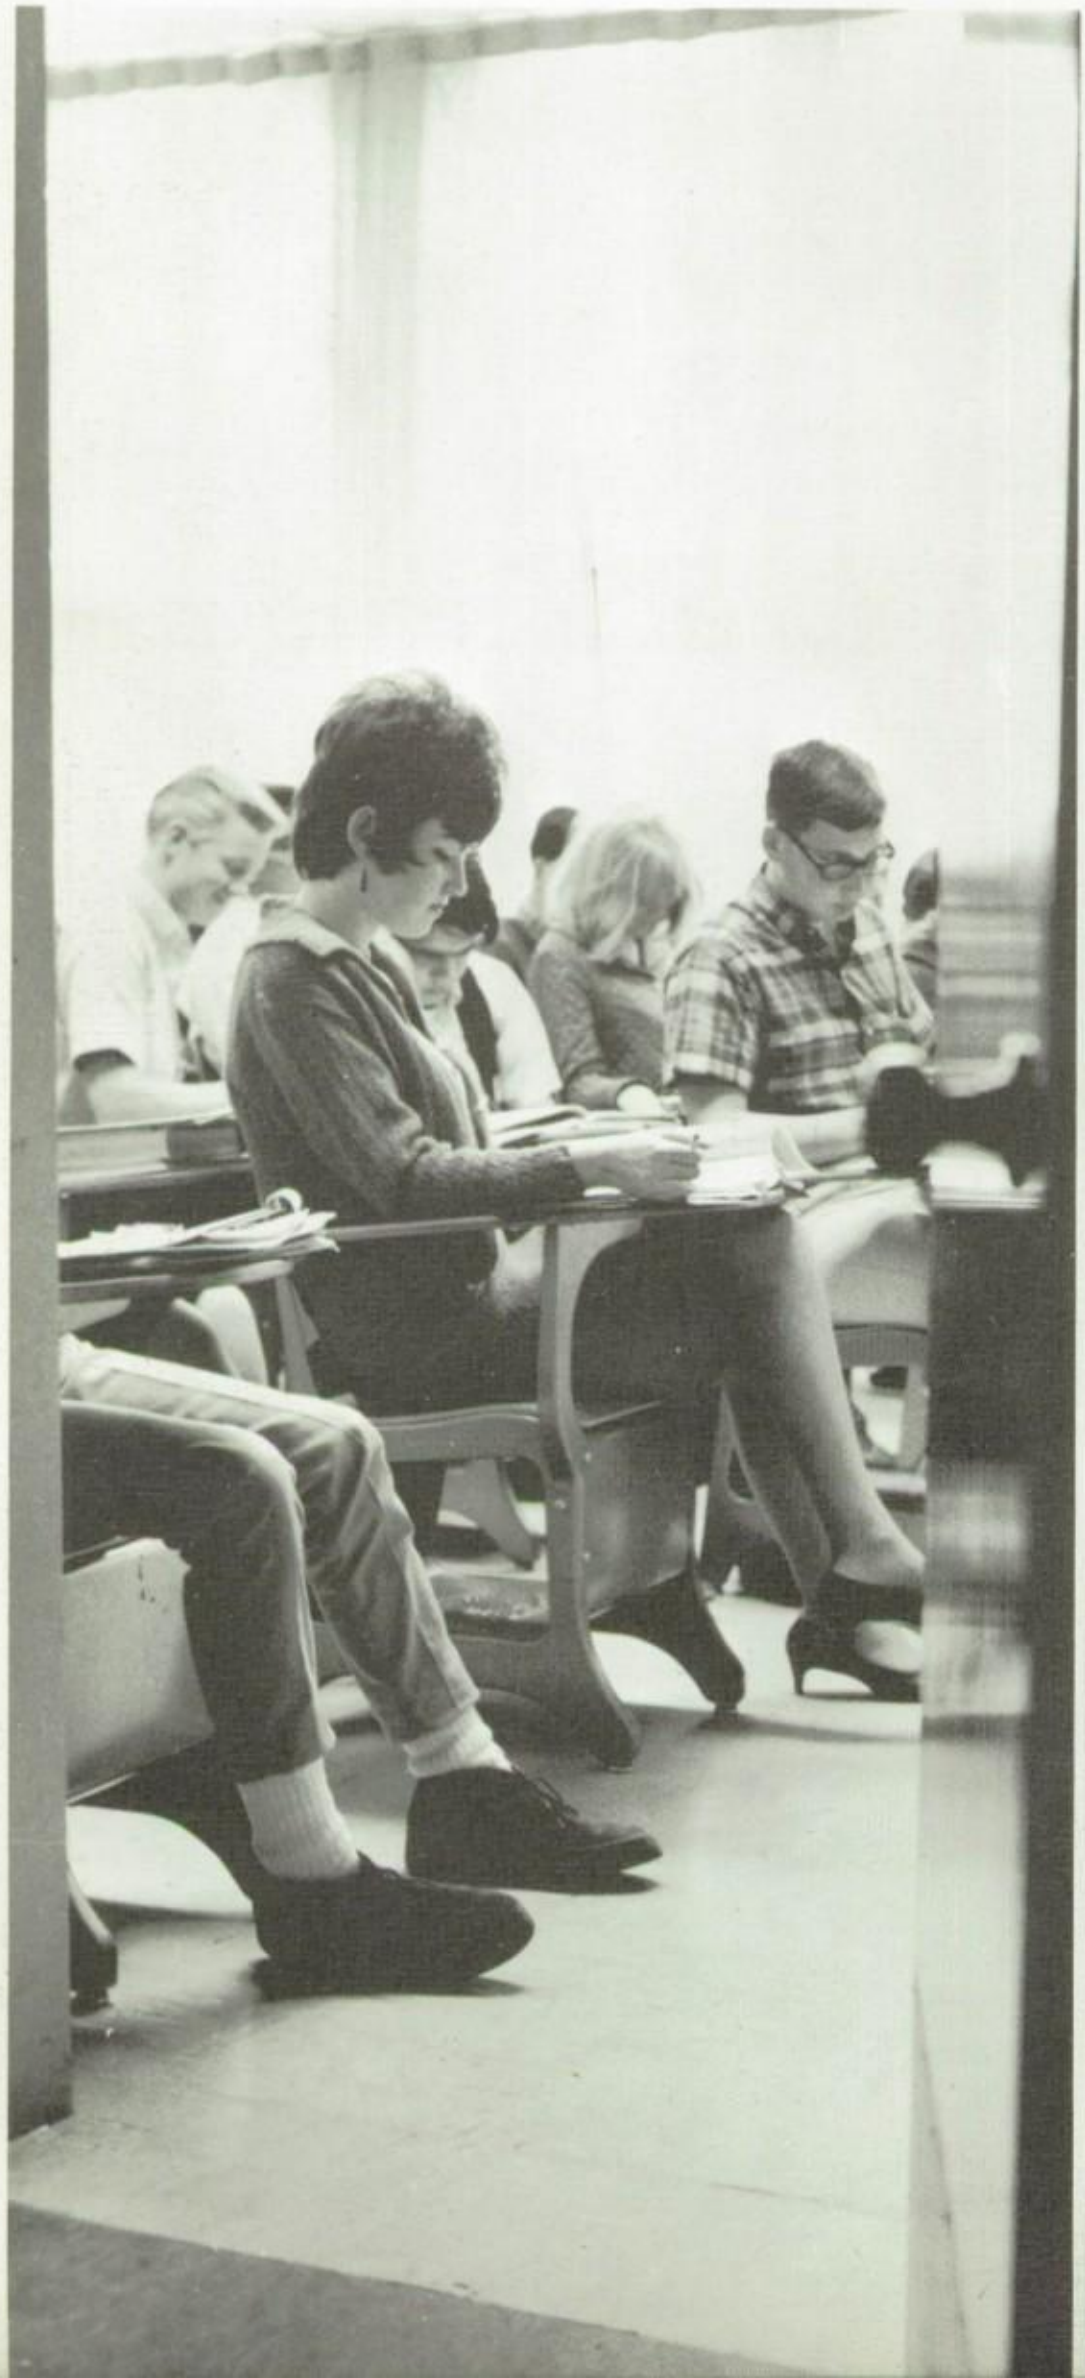
A WORLD



OPENS UP . . . .

LETS WIN

and we find that school is not all work . . .

. . . as four years go by with a run and a jump.

. . . and as the school developed, so did we. Each one of us searching for something different yet combining our thoughts, our skills, our leadership into one—into the student body of Mountain View High School.

We were not the first to add something—a feeling, a thought, a page of history. There were others before us who added their share too.

But we are the students of today adding our thoughts, our skills, our leadership to make the future a little brighter and a little closer to today.

We are the leaders of tomorrow. What we make of ourselves today will show throughout our future. As we struggle today—reaching for goals now beyond our grasp—we build the foundation of tomorrow . . . and we will attain those goals and build a future of which we will be proud.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To The Students

I would like to commend the teenagers of today and, in particular, those of Mountain View.

Faced with the temptations of today and the uncertainty of tomorrow, you have displayed the type of leadership necessary to meet the many problems of the future.

Those of us working directly with you are mindful of the many acts of kindness, thoughtfulness and courtesy displayed every day. We are also mindful of the deep loyalty, dedication and tremendous spirit you have for your school. I'm sure that with these qualities your future will be pleasant and successful.

To each of you, the best of luck in your chosen endeavor.

'67's MESSAGE TO JUNIORS

This has been a busy year for you, juniors. Your classes were not easy and your activities took time you were sure could not be spared. But you have survived. You have shouldered the responsibilities and come out ahead of it all . . . You have met new people, done things which might have seemed quite impossible at first. And you have learned—not only your necessary school work, but how to live in a growing world—a world of many people, many ideas, many activities.

And now we seniors are leaving Mountain View High School—our world for four years. We leave to you, the new leaders of our school, the many challenges we have faced and overcome—challenges you, too, must face and overcome. And these challenges will not be easily met. You must not shrink from the "almost impossible" tasks—face them and your last year at MVHS will be the best of your four years.

Pep Rally Club has grown from two small organizations into a huge one—an organization that has done many services for Mountain View High School. When Pep Club and Rally Club joined together a few years ago, they inspired many students to work for MVHS—by selling refreshments during games, financing scholarships, helping with the Santa Claus Exchange, and many other activities which have helped the reputation of our high school.

GIRLS' STATE

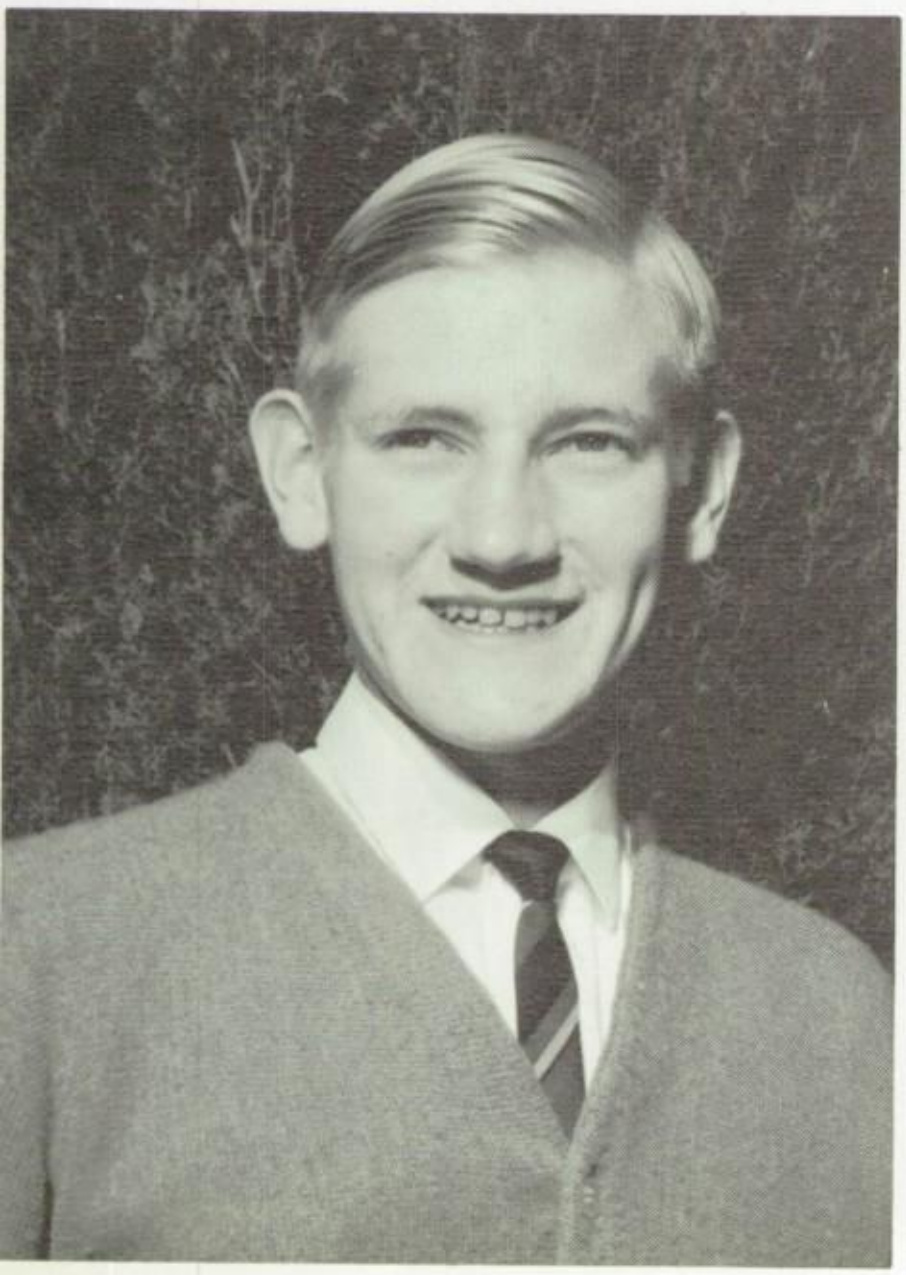
At Girls' State we learned about the city, county, and state government of California by actually forming and running our own. Thru this, I gained a deeper understanding of my responsibilities as a citizen, and of what it means to be an American.

More important, in meeting and working with other girls from throughout the state, I saw that we were different but really all the same. I learned that we were only part of many, but still important in our own ways.

Girls' State is learning, fun, happiness, tears, and hard work. Most of all, it is love—for others and for our nation.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to experience it.

Judy Sim



BOYS' STATE

My stay at California Boys' State last summer was a valuable experience for me. About 850 boys, all mutual strangers, arrived in Sacramento from all parts of the state for a week of practical governmental experience. By actually forming political parties and constituting a working government at city, county, and state levels, we learned many of the processes, problems, and possibilities of our form of government. The bonds of friendship grew among us as we lived and worked together. By the end of the week, a unique spirit of enthusiasm and cooperation had captured us all. We took with us not only a knowledge of government but also that same enthusiasm, which gives life to our nation, and that spirit of cooperation, which makes our democracy work.

I am deeply grateful to the American Legion and to MVHS for giving me the honor and the experience of a worthwhile week at Boys' State.

EABISA'S AMERICAN LIFE

Eabisa and Dean spend their spare time putting jigsaw puzzles together.

Between classes, Eabisa pays a visit to his locker.

OUR FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT—EABISA GUTETA

It seemed almost impossible to be able to live in a country over 9,000 miles away from home for one year. Not knowing where in the United States I was going, I was extremely confused as to how I would manage to be able to stay here. But things worked out quite differently from what I thought they would. I enjoyed every moment of my stay here and felt just as if I were at my home in Ethiopia.

I just can't find terms to express how much affection towards you Americans has built up in me since I came here. This year has been a year of understanding for me.

I am very grateful to the Granholms, my family this year, for giving me this memorable year by showing me most of the U. S. and for opening their wonderful home to me. I will never forget you. I would also like to express my deep appreciation to the administration for giving me the privilege of being here this year, and for supporting this program, which really is "the path to understanding."

FALL A.S.B. OFFICERS

President—Joy Nakamura

As Student Body President during the fall semester, I have had the opportunity to see student government grow and improve under the direction of the Executive Council. This past semester the Executive Council has become the voice of the student body. The greatest improvement in student government this semester has been the increased communication between student government and the administration in the handling of the many crises on campus.

I have only one wish for student government: that more students will actively participate and support student government so it will continue to grow and improve.

SPRING GOVERNMENT

The last years at Mountain View High have seen improvement as well as change. We improved our government with a new constitution two years ago and we have now begun to accept these responsibilities.

In the future, we will be given increasing amounts of respect and acceptance so long as we respect and accept the world in which we are living. For we live in a changing society; a society which is looking more and more to its young people. And we will have to deal constructively with our future problems; student government offers a chance to practice these skills we will soon need.

It's been four years since the class of '67 first walked down the halls of Mountain View High School. It doesn't really seem like it—time seems to go by so quickly when you're looking back.

We've been a good class, a great class—we think, of course, the best class our school has ever had. And we have reasons for thinking this way. We are a large class—one of 350 students. A class with many capabilities—collectively and individually. We've shown our greatness in our number, in our leadership, and in our talents.

We have proven our leadership by being one of the most active classes in student government our school has ever seen. In our Junior year, our school was given a new constitution—a constitution which we, as Sophomores, had helped write. It was not easy adjusting to the power this new document gave us—even now we are ironing out problems we have come up against. But we are learning and teaching thers to be leaders of our school, of our community—of our nture.

And as our four years went by our talents grew and nproved also. We proved that we could work together and et things done—no matter how hard a job it was. And ecause of our kinship we were able to produce and stage the iggest production ever put on by a senior class—the nusical, "My Fair Lady."

And now our four years are gone—left behind us as we ravel out into a new adventure. We do not go together as a lass, but individually—all of us taking off in different irections—but nonetheless, we go with the same goal—that f becoming a person who will be able to exist in a society nat has many problems, and many challenges. We can only ope that the four years spent learning and teaching at Mountain View High School will help us reach our goal.

AUTOGRAPHS

Here goes nothing (I'm just thinking). It's difficult to try and say something in so short an amount of space that might sum up all the fun and hard times we experienced in Physiology. I can't seem to think anything new that hasn't been written before. I must close by saying that I enjoyed every moment spent in Physiology. Good luck in the future in all things you do.

— Billy C.
